office of the DAILY BANNER. The young men visited with the Jack Bonewits family several days this week.

French lads embark on long summer journey

It's a long way from Paris, France, to New York City, U.S.A. And it's a long way from New York City to Greencastle, Ind. For Joel Tronchet and Gerard Uittecoq the journey was filled with myriad experiences and memories.

The two young men visited several days with the Jack Bonewits family near Fillmore.

While inspecting the campus of DePauw University, the factories, farms, homes and parks of the Greencastle area, they stopped by the DAILY BANNER office. And they unveiled a tale of adventures reminiscent of the wanderings of Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn."

As students of a university in France, Joel and Gerard were eligible for special travel rates from Paris to New York. So they decided to begin a long, summer journey. From Paris they traveled to Brussels. From there they embarked for New York City, arriving July 11 by plane.

Their first trip in America has been characterized by a mode of travel as old as time: walking.

Walking and hitchhiking, Joel and Gerard visited Albany and Syracuse on their way to Chicago from New York City.

They even wandered into Canada and are still marveling at the beauty of Niagara Falls. While in that region they met a man from Chicago. He "adopted" them and took them to Chicago. There they toured museums and shopping areas and saw the Loop. A bus brought the lads to Indianapolis, where they visited the Speedway.

In the course of hours, they met Gerald Wattley, who is staying with the Bonewits. Over the weekend Joel and Gerard, along with the Bonewits visited Shakamak State Park and Cataract Falls. Of the Falls, they say simply that they should have seen them before Niagara Falls.

Both Joel and Gerard are 20 years old and students of economics at Rouen University in France. Joel, who hails from a little village near LaMaz is talkative and quickly friendly. Gerard, whose home is in Normandy, is quiet and smiling.

When asked what they enjoyed most about the United States of America, both replied that it is "difficult to say." But Niagara Falls and the States in general were the top answers.

They deem the people of America as "friendly and helpful." And they compare France and the United States by saying that "everything is larger, the roads, the houses, the farms and even the people."

After leaving Greencastle, Joel and Gerard struck out for St.

Louis and New Orleans. They also hope to visit Mexico and Miami, Fla.

When they return to Paris, Aug. 25, one thing is certain, they will have gathered reams of stories and experiences to tell their friends. And families in the United States, including the Jack Bonewits family, will long remember the days with the friendly and curious young Frenchmen.

Ranks ninth in casualties

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Indiana continues to rank ninth among the states in number of men killed in action in Vietnam.

Latest Pentagon figures showed today that 668 men listing Hoosier addresses were killed from the start of the war through May, and 237 of them were killed during the first five months of this year.

As a County Extension Agent working with youth, the duties of Jerry Williams are to lead, guide and direct.

Williams has been in Greencastle as an extension agent for about two and a half years.

Originally from Gibson County he was graduated from Purdue University in 1963. Before coming to Putnam County he worked for two and a half years as an extension agent in Knox County.

He is director of the 4-H program in the county. As such, he organizes clubs and sees that the new year is started on time, and in an orderly manner.

He also is detailed to find 4-H leaders, persons who are interested in young people. After selecting and finding the volunteer leaders, Williams conducts leader training sessions, teaching the adults the fundamentals of being leaders.

He also presents sessions of training about the specific areas of 4-H work. Thus, if a man is to be an instructor in boys 4-H, Williams explains the many projects and facets of the work.

Often the leaders have knowledge of the fields they will teach. A farmer, for instance, knows the care of most farm animals and crops. Previous experience in any field is not necessary, however, according to Williams.

In working with 4-H and young

Dedicate flag pole Sunday afternoon

Several years ago Ron Toney, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Toney, was killed in an automobile accident as he returned home from a 4-H junior leader meeting.

In his memory, a new flag pole has been erected north of the community building on the Putnam County Fairgrounds. Dedication ceremonies will be conducted at 4 p.m., Sunday, during the opening day of the 1968 Putnam County Fair.

The ceremonies will convene immediately after the 4-H Dress Revue, which begins at 3 p.m. Circuit Court Judge Francis Hamilton will preside. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Kyle Miller. Members of 4-H and F.F.A. (Future Farmers of America) will raise the flag of the United States and the 4-H flag.

The United States flag was presented to Vernie Zeiner, president of the Fair Board, during a dinner meeting Monday night at the fairgrounds, by Indiana Senator Birch Bayh. The flag was flown over the Capitol building in Washington, D.C.,

By GEORGE J. MARDER
MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The delegates will have more hip room, the demonstrations will be less synthetic and race track identification stamps will be used to bar gate crashers.

These are a few of the changes Republicans are making so they can conduct their national convention here Aug. 5-8 "with the highest degree of decorum and dignity."

That was the goal of a convention reform committee established two years ago, after former President Dwight D. Eisenhower complained about the chaotic way in which political conventions were run. Eisenhower said there must be a better way to nominate a president and a vice president and decide on a statement of party principles.

He had in mind running conventions something like a special session of Congress, with the delegates sitting in a chamber, insulated from outside influence and interferences, and making their decisions after "quiet and due deliberation."

Some Modification
However, the reforms adopted don't go quite that far.

Delegates will find their seats are wider, padded and have arm rests; there will be less milling on the floor; fewer distractions on the platform; hopefully shorter but more genuine demonstrations for "the man who..."

And that will be about all the changes.

The GOP reform committee was in favor of a limited amount of dignity, heretofore a relatively unfamiliar ingredient at political conventions. But it said that if "stripped of its glitter," a national convention "could well be incredibly uninteresting and dull."

So the committee sought a balance of glamour and decorum. But its recommendations went through a period of attrition in which some of the most drastic were abandoned or modified.

As a result, the gregarious delegates, of whom there are many, will not deliberate in ivory tower splendor even though there is a rule banning all but delegates from the section of the hall reserved for them.

Fewer Aides

There will be 1,000 honorary assistant sergeants of arms, 500 fewer than in 1964, in the hall. But instead of milling around to grab any empty seat, they will be assigned what convention arrangers call "observed view" seats.

Some of those seats will be behind the big television camera stand in front of the speaker's rostrum. The reform committee wanted that stand eliminated. The networks complained this would hurt their broadcasts of the convention. The stand remains.

As in the past, newsmen will be given passes to interview delegates on the floor. The reform committee had wanted delegates to talk to newsmen only off the floor. Reporters complained that interviews arranged under such cumbersome restrictions would be as stale as last week's bagel. The Republicans compromised by cutting in half the number of news floor passes to be issued.

The biggest change will be the reduced number of people allowed on the floor, precautions against gate crashers, and a ban on outside demonstrators.

Tighten Regulations

To see to it that convention tickets are not used over and over to bring in outsiders, different colored passes will be used for each day and stubs will be removed when presented.

Anyone leaving the hall temporarily will have an indelible stamp placed on his hand, a system used at race tracks and dance halls to keep out free loaders. A whole ticket, stub and all, and the indelible stamp, which can be seen only under an ultra-violet light, will be required for readmittance.

Paid professional guards, in uniform, will replace the old patronage doorkeepers and sergeants-of-arms to enforce admission rules and maintain order. The guards will be furnished by an outside firm and, hopefully, will not be susceptible to influence from politicians.

The guards also will see to it that the floor is not packed by outsiders during demonstrations for candidates. It's been the custom in the past to open the doors and allow outsiders to parade into the hall to whoop it up during nominations. These well-organized "spontaneous demonstrations" have been conducted in past by paid demonstrators as well as genuine supporters. Some paraded for more than one candidate.

The reform committee said that only delegates and alternates should be allowed to show their enthusiasm on the floor. The arrangements committee relented to the extent of allowing 50-man bands into the hall during demonstrations.

County Fair opens with 4-H Dress Revue

The annual 4-H Dress Revue will be staged Sunday, July 28, as the opening event of the Putnam County Fair. The revue will be in the arena beginning at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Jack Torr is chairman of the Dress Revue. She is being assisted by Mrs. James Hockema, Mrs. Jerry Williams and Mrs. Wendall Brattain, adult leaders, and Marilynne Clodfelter, Vicki Wallace and Pam Vaughn, Junior Leaders.

Decorations for the revue will follow a "Fashion Forecast" theme, with John Robertson in charge.

Jr. Leader girls who will serve as narrators include Debbie Alcorn, Carol Robertson, Carolyn Mandelco, Rhonda Sutherland, Marie McKee, Carolyn Torr, Patty McGaughey, Nancy McGaughey, Carol Evans and Karen Lieske. Jr. leader boys will assist as ushers for the 200 girls participating.

Private judging of the revue was conducted Thursday. Mrs. Lois Gore and Mrs. Wandalyne Roper, of Greene County served as judges.

Mrs. John Robertson instructed the girls in modeling techniques following the judging.

U.S. craft was in South Vietnam---maybe

SAIGON (UPI)—Qualified American military sources said Friday a U.S. Army landing craft and its 11-man crew may have been in South Vietnam when it was seized by Cambodian forces on the Mekong River.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state, is holding the 10 Americans aboard the craft for possible trial. He has demanded one bulldozer as ransom for each man. There was one South Vietnamese aboard the LCU vessel when it was taken July 17.

Sihanouk, in a speech last Friday, said the LCU had intruded into Cambodian territory. He rejected a U.S. plea for the release of the crew after the State Department in Washington had apologized, saying the LCU may have crossed the ill-defined frontier through an inadvertent navigational error.

U.S. military sources in Saigon said Friday it was highly unlikely the LCU had indeed crossed the frontier as drawn by the South Vietnamese. To do this, one informant said, the LCU crew would have had to travel five hours through strange waters filled with sandbars and have failed to see four major Mekong tributaries and a large island. The LCU was on a daylight mission from Dong Tam to Can Tho.

"It sounds almost impossible for it to have strayed into Cambodia," an official spokesman said.

and 82 crewmen have been held in North Korea since Jan. 23 when Communist gunboats intercepted the vessel in the Sea of Japan. North Korea said the Pueblo was on a spy mission. The United States has denied this.

Col. Zo Nam-zong, the Moscow military attaché, said Friday:

"The American imperialists should be clearly aware that if they do not apologize for the crimes of the Pueblo crew, and if they do not guarantee there will be no repetition of such crimes, we will never return the crew."

"If the organizers of such crimes will not assume responsibility for the fate of the crew we will have no alternative to making the crew pay for their crimes."

The North Korean army officer did not elaborate, and the newsmen present did not ask questions of him. No western or neutral correspondents were in the room.

(In Washington, the State Department said Friday it still had no evidence that the Pueblo intruded into North Korean waters and therefore no apology was in order.)

Mabel Kiger will head women's committee for Bayh campaign

A key appointment to the Senator Bayh for Senator Committee in Putnam County was announced this week in a statement by Senator Birch Bayh.

Mabel Kiger will head the Women's Activities Committee. Senator Bayh is seeking reelection to a second six-year term in the U.S. Senate in the November 5 election.

The Senator Bayh for Senator Committee here will work in cooperation with County Chairman Shuee and the county Democratic organization to re-elect Bayh.

Bayh described the new committee chair-woman as "an energetic and dedicated citizen who has, in the past, contributed a great deal to her community. We're extremely pleased that she has joined our campaign effort."

Senator Bayh, age 40, farmer and attorney, was first elected to the Senate in 1962 in an upset victory over Senator Homer Capehart. Bayh is a member of the Public Works and Judiciary Committees of the Senate as well as of several important subcommittees. He is chairman of the Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments and author of the 25th Amendment to the United States Constitution. As a member of the Public Works Committee, he has been responsible for the appropriation of more funds for Indiana Public Works projects than were appropriated in the state's entire history before he became Senator. Approximately 60% of the Senate's legislation must pass through the Judiciary Committee.

people, much of Williams' time in the summer is devoted to planning the Putnam County 4-H Fair.

He is officially listed on the Alumni Association.

While Williams was attending Purdue, he was interested in farm management. While discussing career possibilities with executive, catalog and program committees for the fair. But he is involved in nearly every phase of planning and preparing the fair.

There are approximately 150 junior leaders in the county. Williams conducts training sessions and attends the junior leader meetings.

He is also engaged in many phases of agriculture. When area farmers visit the extension office Williams often is asked questions about crop growth, yield, soil, etc. He also does some soil testing and advises farmers and gardeners of insect and disease control.

Williams resides in Greencastle with his wife and son, Kevin. Kevin is two and a half years old and already enjoys fairs and 4-H meetings.

A man of quiet manner, Williams enjoys gardening and likes all sports...especially watching the Purdue University football team play a winning game.

He is a member of Rotary and the First Baptist Church. In addition he is active in several extension oriented organizations. He is vice president of the Indiana Extension Agents Association and is serving on the program committee for the National 4-H Agents Association. He is also active in the Purdue professor, extension work was mentioned. And the career began.

Jerry Williams defines his career and his life as "finding opportunities for boys and girls to gain knowledge toward a career." Through 4-H, Williams helps the young realize interests and develop skills.

Nation pays tribute to crew

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Indiana Department Commanders Ralph Cushman of the American Legion Thursday urged all Hoosiers to join in a national tribute to the 82 crewmen and officers taken prisoner on the USS Pueblo last January.

"We join Mrs. Lloyd Bucher, wife of the skipper of the ship, in making an appeal to all Indiana residents to fly their flags on July 28, the six-month anniversary date of the capture of the Pueblo by the North Koreans," Cushman said.

Big Walnut approved

United States Representative John T. Myers, R., Indiana, announced Friday afternoon that the Big Walnut Reservoir project passed the House-Senate conference committee, Friday.

The bill will now go to the House and Senate for final approval. It then must meet the approval of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

American missing

MANILA (UPI)—The U.S. Coast Guard said today it was searching seas made turbulent by tropical storms Nadine and Olive for an American identified as Gerry McLoughlin, missing for a week on a voyage in his 28-foot sailboat between Hong Kong and Manila. His home was not listed.

Need strict air travel control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commercial airlines are trapping themselves in the sky by overcatering to the scheduling whims of their passengers, says an air traffic control executive.

"The present system cannot support scheduling so that all passengers can leave their homes at 8 a.m., and be back by 6 p.m., in time for a dip in the pool and dinner," said G. W. Kriske in a letter to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

Kriske, executive director of the Air Traffic Control Association (ATCA), wrote the letter to demand the FAA take over airline flight scheduling from the airlines themselves.

Travel at 3 a.m. He said passengers "must learn that they may on occasion have to travel at 3 a.m., if they're going to be able to travel at all without hanging in a hold pattern for hours over an airport."

Kriske said commercial airlines are jamming big airports at peak travel hours, which correspond to auto traffic rush hours below, with "duplicate competitive scheduling."

The FAA said it would meet early next month with ATCA, its rival Professional Air Traffic Controllers Association (PATCO) and 18 other groups to get their further views on the situation before taking any action.

FAA officials met with their regional directors again Thursday in an attempt to find solutions to the congestion problem—an answer it says won't be forthcoming for at least several weeks.

Meanwhile, Rep. Lester Wolf, D-N.Y., in the latest of a series of actions aimed at easing the growing congestion, called government and industry officials to a meeting in his office today to discuss the problem. He is especially concerned about mammoth air traffic jams clogging the New York City area's airports.

Plans Investigation Rep. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, announced plans for an investigation in the next few months into the whole problem of air traffic safety. Taft's investigation would carry no official weight, and chairmen of the House and Senate committees governing air operations have expressed little interest in pushing such an inquiry.

The current flurry of concern over the congestion problem was precipitated when members of the newly formed PATCO decided to follow the FAA safety rule book to the letter in guiding aircraft around the country. ATCA had no choice but to follow suit.

The result has been extreme congestion and long landing delays as airliners stacked up all over the so-called "golden triangle" bounded by Boston, Chicago and Washington, and including the busy New York metropolitan area.

To the Editor:

This letter is written in the hope that it will be read by all my neighbors around the country who are afraid of any effective gun-control laws and think it would be the government's first step toward taking guns away from everybody. This fear is absolutely unfounded, as anyone who will examine the facts for himself can see. But unfortunately, a powerful gun lobby, led by the National Rifle Association, has so frightened a great many decent, reasonable people that they really do believe it.

A staff member of the Senate Special Subcommittee that has been investigating the need for gun controls said this not long ago about the people who are so afraid of laws to regulate firearms: "These sportsmen are mostly ordinary, decent fellows. They have no idea that they have been intentionally misled for someone else's personal gain, and that they are indirectly responsible for thousands and thousands of unnecessary deaths and injuries every year. If we could only get the truth across to them, they'd back us all the way."

The fact is that in spite of all the propaganda by the gun lobby the great majority of American citizens do want gun-control legislation. The Gallup Polls have shown for the past thirty years that more than 84 percent of the American people favor effective gun controls. In January 1967 a Gallup Poll showed that 73 percent of all Americans would support a law requiring registration of all rifles and shotguns, and 85 percent favored a law requiring registration of all handguns. Even a majority of the nation's gun owners favor gun-control laws. A Harris Survey has shown that 66 percent of the 27 million white Americans who own guns are in favor of a law requiring all persons to register all gun purchases, and a Gallup Poll last year showed that 60 percent of the nation's gun owners would vote in favor of a law requiring a police permit for the purchase of any gun.

The overwhelming majority of law enforcement officials in our country have been on record for years in favor of gun-control laws. For more than thirty years the International Association of Chiefs of Police has favored a law requiring Federal registration of all firearms. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has long been in favor of gun controls and has stated: "Those who claim that the availability of firearms is not a factor in murder in this country are not facing reality... a review of the motives for murder suggests that a readily accessible gun enables the perpetrators to kill on impulse." The American Bar Association supports strong gun controls. So does at least two thirds of the press, including such highly respected farm publication as the 127-year-old Prairie Farmer, whose editor made a survey covering the states of Indiana and Illinois and concluded: "I doubt very much that the gun lobby speaks for the American people, it certainly doesn't speak for the urban citizen like myself. And we offer you proof from personal interview polls that it does not speak for mid-western farmers."

What is the truth about the need for gun controls? Here are some facts I hope readers will examine carefully.

In the United States there were 6552 murders with firearms in 1966 and 7700 in 1967; there were 43,500 aggravated assaults with firearms in 1966 and 55,000 in 1967; there were 60,000 robberies with firearms in 1966 and over 71,000 in 1967. This adds up to more than 110,000 gun crimes of all kinds, from armed robbery to murder, in the United States in 1966 and more than 133,000 in 1967. (I won't even talk about the 10,407 suicides and 2,557 accidental deaths by firearms in 1966.)

How does this compare with countries that require gun licensing and registration? In Great Britain, which has one fourth as many people as the United States, instead of 6,552 gun murders in 1966 there were 30-about the same number that are shot to death in the United States every 36 hours. In France, a nation of enthusiastic hunters with a population one fourth our size and 2 million hunting rifles and shotguns registered in 1967, there are about 500 deaths by shooting each year, or 1 per 100,000 population—less than a third of the rate in America. In Paris and its suburbs, with 5 million people (a little more than the population of Indiana), the number of homicides and attempted homicides with firearms has been going down since 1962. That year it was 145; in 1966 it was only 76. In Japan, with 98 million people, almost half as many as the United States, there were only 2111 murders of all kinds in 1967 and only 37 of these involved firearms. In Holland, which has just about three times the population of Indiana, the total number of gun murders for the entire year of 1967 was 15, and for a period of three years in the early 1960's there was not a single gun murder in all of Holland.

But perhaps somebody may argue that the lower rate of gun murders in all those countries is not really due to their gun-control laws but just to the fact that in those countries conditions are somehow "different." All right, let's look closer home. Canada is so close and similar to the United States that the Canadians sometimes wonder whether they aren't little more than the fifty-first state. They are a nation of outdoorsmen and hunters, and they have even more great open spaces than we have. But they also have registrations of all firearms. With a population about equal to that of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Kentucky, Canada had a total of 281 murders of all kinds in the whole year 1967. Of these, only 140 were committed by firearms, or an average of .8 per 100,000.

Your chances of getting deliberately shot to death are nearly 5 times greater in the United States than in Canada, 27 times greater than in Holland, 29 times greater than in West Germany, 60 times greater than in England, and 89 times greater than in Japan. Why? Are the people in all those countries more moral than we are? More peaceful? More law-abiding? I refuse to believe it. I am convinced that the difference between us and all the rest of the civilized world is very simple: we still stubbornly insist on being anarchists when it comes to the control of firearms, and the rest of the civilized world has learned better.

The firearm anarchists like to claim that the gun-control laws already passed by some states and cities do not really make any difference. But the facts do not support them. The first column of figures in the table below shows the percentage of murders that were committed with firearms during the period from 1962 to 1965 in each of the states named. The second column of figures shows the overall murder rate per 100,000 population.

State	Percentage of Murders with Firearms	Overall Murder Rate per 100,000
Rhode Island	24%	1.4
Massachusetts	35%	2.4
New York	32%	4.8
New Jersey	39%	3.5
Pennsylvania	43%	3.2

1. States with gun controls:
2. States with minimal or no gun controls:
Louisiana 62% 9.9
Arizona 66% 6.1
Nevada 67% 10.6
Texas 69% 9.1
Mississippi 71% 9.7

Again let me ask you: are the people in Mississippi twice as murderous by nature as the people in Nevada? Are the people in Nevada three times as murderous as the people in New Jersey? Or is it the gun-control laws that make your chances less of getting murdered in New York and New Jersey than in Mississippi and Nevada?

Firearms are involved in only 25 percent of the murders committed in New York City, which is under the Sullivan Law, while in Dallas, Texas, and Phoenix, Arizona, which have virtually no laws controlling firearms, the rate is 72 percent and 65.9 percent respectively. Moreover, despite what those of us who were born in the country or in small towns may like to think about the wickedness of New York City, it has the fifth lowest assault rate of the nation's ten largest cities, the third lowest robbery rate of them all. If the rest of the United States were likewise under the Sullivan Law, so that New York residents could not get around their own state's gun-control law by buying firearms out-of-state, the crime rate in New York City would very likely be even lower.

We hear a great deal nowadays about crime in the cities. My wife and I have just returned home after living for four months in Washington within three blocks of the Senate Office Buildings, and we know at first hand how bad conditions are in the capital city of our nation. But we

DEAR HELOISE:

I made a towel rack for the inside of the wooden door below my sink.

With small screws, I attached two window shade brackets about a foot apart up near the inside top of the door. Just so the brackets are not in the way when the door closes.

Then I cut off an old broom handle the length between the brackets and nailed it in place, with the nails going through the holes in the brackets and into the ends of the stick.

Mrs. Lawson

DEAR HELOISE: When the elastic comes out of knee-high stockings, or they just won't stay up, I take some stretch elastic and sew it in a circle. Then sew it around the top from the inside of the sock.

If you can't get elastic the same color as the sock, just sew the elastic to the inside of the sock.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: A man in my office said he always reads your hints. Keeps him one up on his wife.

Eve Dietrich

DEAR HELOISE:

I would like to share an idea I find helpful.

Take a wire clotheshanger and pull the bottom crosswire down from the hook until the side corners are completely bent together, making a long handle. Then use this to pull things to the front of high shelves that would otherwise require a step-stool to reach to the back.

I keep one in every closet including the utility closet and save lots of climbing and reaching.

Mrs. E. Davis

You're short, too, eh?

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

During the hot weather, the sandwiches in my lunch were spoiling at work. So my solution was to fill an empty milk carton with water and freeze it overnight.

In the morning I pack it in my lunch pail next to my sandwich.

Now I have a cold, fresh sandwich and as the ice melts, I also have a cold drink throughout the day.

Pearl Drucker

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who go camping with children here's an idea my husband got a kick out of.

I tie a vegetable brush at the toe of an old nylon stocking. Up a little ways I tie a knot and insert a bar of hand soap. Then I tie another knot up a little ways to hold a bar of facial soap.

You still have room at the top to tie the stocking to a branch, a rope, or tack it to a table, depending upon where your wash water is placed.

Marty

DEAR HELOISE:

If you have an upright vacuum cleaner, you can vacuum right up to the edges of your room-size rug and wall-to-wall bathroom rugs by "walking" in it's most upright position, and then lean you near the edge just slightly tilt it backwards. (It "backs," you know.)

This way the rollers in the front of the machine do not touch the edge of the rug but the suction brings the dust up right from the edge of the rug.

Jane W.

And to think of all the years they have sold upright vacuum cleaners and nobody had ever mentioned this before...

Isn't Jane terrific? Works, too.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Help yourself to those little free paint charts when shopping. Then when you must match a certain color in buttons, ribbon or even the shade of a wall when buying accessories, merely carry along the little paper slip or swatch that matches the color you are looking for.

Mrs. Frank Grover

--- Letter to the editor

also know that Washington cannot cope with its crime problem by itself. Persons with criminal records are prevented by law from buying handguns in the District of Columbia. But no District of Columbia law can keep a criminal from going out into the suburbs and buying a gun where the D.C. laws do not operate. One major gun dealer just across the Maryland line was recently found to be selling 60 percent of his firearms to Washington residents, and 40 percent of these Washington purchasers had criminal records.

Neighbors, if you are among those who have been pressuring our Congressmen to vote against gun controls, then you bear part of the responsibility for perpetuating the crime in our nation's capital. Washington and the other cities cannot control their crime with local laws as long as the small towns and the countryside insist on firearms anarchy.

Why is it that our country lags behind every other civilized nation in laws to regulate traffic in firearms? The answer is to be found in the hysteria created among a minority of otherwise reasonable, decent Americans by the most powerful lobby in the United States, the gun lobby. Here is the way this hysteria was described in a major Senate speech last May by Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, who in addition to leading the campaign for adequate gun controls is also one of the strongest anti-Communists in Congress:

"Some of the more reckless critics of the gun bill have charged that it is all a part of a Communist plot to disarm the American people so that the Communists can take over and impose their dictatorship. Registration, they say, leads to confiscation, and confiscation, in turn, makes a Communist takeover easier. Not only is there not a word about 'confiscation' in the legislation, but to anyone who knows anything about the history of Communist takeovers, this argument is the worst kind of nonsense. Virtually every mountaineer in Albania had an unregistered gun before the Communists took over in their country. But that did not prevent the Communists from taking over. On the other hand, the Swiss are a nation of sportsmen and gun lovers who for decades now have practiced the strictest kind of registration. But registration has not led to confiscation-and Switzerland remains one of the most staunchly anti-Communist countries in Europe....If the gun lobby were to carry this argument to its logical conclusion, the first measure they would have to take would have to be to destroy the entire membership list of the National Rifle Association and the subscription lists of the dozen or more gun magazines. For if a Communist regime were ever to take power in this country, it could, by impounding these various lists, instantly be able to compile a nationwide master list of the names and addresses of gun owners."

Senator Dodd went on to say, "There is a tendency to forget that the gun lobby is only a relatively small group, and that it depends on terror for its success. It moves its membership to write letters to legislators, newspapers, and Congressmen by telling them falsely the law threatens to take away their firearms. Nothing could be further from the truth....This small group, motivated and financed by the self-interest of the gun-runners, is the one who has succeeded in opposing laws that most of America wants, to disarm the criminal and those similarly unqualified to go about armed to the teeth."

It is time to stop being terrorized by the gun lobby. Neighbors, if you love our country and are concerned over its welfare, I suggest that you write to your Congressmen and urge them to defy the gun lobby and vote for effective gun controls.

(The facts presented in this letter have been gathered from the following sources: (1) "Strict Gun Control Practiced Abroad," The New York Times, June 13, 1968; (2) President Johnson's message to Congress on June 24 proposing tighter gun controls (The New York Times, June 25, 1968); (3) "Gun Curbs Are Stricter in Many Nations Than in U.S.," The Washington Post, June 23, 1968; "Annals of Legislation: If You Love Your Guns," The New Yorker, April 20, 1968, pages 56-155; and (4) the Congressional Record, May 8, 1968, pages S5125-S5148, which gives the text of a three-hour speech in the Senate, packed with an impressive and convincing array of facts, that was made in support of gun controls by Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut.)

Committee slashes foreign aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved Thursday the lowest foreign aid bill in the history of the program, authorizing $1.94 billion for the current fiscal year which began July 1.

The committee even whittled $47.9 million from the amount previously voted by the House. This virtually assures that the program will be in the $1.9 billion range—far less than President Johnson declared is absolutely essential.

The authorization legislation must be followed by a separate bill appropriating funds. Under parliamentary rules, an authorization can be cut but not increased when actual appropriations are considered.

The vote sending the authorization bill to the Senate floor was 14 to 4.

Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Frank Church, D-Idaho, John J.

Williams, R-Del., and J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., voted against the $1,945,900,000 bill. Fulbright, who is campaigning for re-election in Arkansas, cast his vote by proxy.

The committee diluted a House provision directing the President to sell supersonic jet planes to Israel. It substituted a provision expressing "the sense of the Congress that the President should take such steps as may be necessary, as soon as practicable" to negotiate such a sale.

Total economic aid provided in the Senate bill was $1,580,900,000 compared with the $1,603,850,000 House figure.

Total military aid was reduced from $390 million to $365 million.

Johnson had asked for $2,541,475,000 in economic aid and $420 million in military grants.

Strive for peace

JERUSALEM (UPI)—The Middle East must strive for permanent peace and not merely the "fragile, often-violated armistice such as has existed for 18 years," Arthur J. Goldberg, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Wednesday.

Daley backing Kennedy

CHICAGO (UPI)—Mayor Richard J. Daley, who Wednesday endorsed Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, said Thursday Kennedy told him he was "considering" the matter.

Daley, one of the most powerful figures in the Democratic party, also dropped a hint that he would have no objection to seeing Kennedy win the presidential nomination.

Daley told a news conference the Massachusetts senator telephoned him Wednesday night to discuss the mayor's statement that Kennedy was his personal choice for the vice presidential nomination.

"He said he was considering it," Daley said.

Daley was asked whether there was a chance that a campaign to nominate Kennedy for the vice presidency might balloon into a draft for the presidency.

"I think senator Kennedy would hold any position with great dedication," the mayor answered.

However, Daley would not be pinned down on his personal choice for the presidential nomination. He has said he will not do so until after the 118-vote Illinois caucus causes the day before the Democratic National Convention opens in Chicago Aug. 26.

"If we get a good second man, we are sure to get a good first man," Daley said. "I hope Senator Kennedy will accept the draft."

He called Kennedy "one of the outstanding men in the U.S. Senate... standing on his own feet, not basking in the glory of the reputation established by his two late brothers."

Daley was asked if he thought Kennedy's youth—the senator is 36—would be a bar to seeking the vice presidency.

"I do not think age is a qualification," Daley said. "It is what he stands for."

He dwelt on the careers of Kennedy's two assassinated brothers and said "he is trying to carry out their tradition."

Rockefeller heads for the Miami Beach meeting a definite underdog in nationwide surveys. But he holds a better than five-to-one margin among delegates from New York and New England.

He feels he can win on the fourth or fifth ballot.

It has been 89 days, 47 states, 60,000 miles and nearly $5 million since Rockefeller officially began his drive to upset Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination.

Eight years ago he made a half-hearted attempt to overtake the former vice president but quit. At the 1960 convention, Rockefeller seconded Nixon's nomination. This time, he said, he will reverse the act.

The New York governor has never lost an election and is now serving his third term in Albany. He predicts he can win in November as head of the party's national ticket.

Calls Himself "Winner"
"I can win in November if the Republican party wants a winner and the delegates nominate me," Rockefeller said.

"I know they do want a winner and that's why I'll be nominated. I will help local candidates win, too."

The preconvention delegate strength in New England as shown in an UPI breakdown is: New York, 88 for Rockefeller and 4 for Nixon; Connecticut, 13 leaning to Rockefeller and 3 to Nixon; Maine, 6 for Rockefeller, 4 for Nixon and 4 uncommitted; Massachusetts, 34 for Rockefeller; New Hampshire, 8 for Nixon; Vermont, 3 for Rockefeller and 9 for Nixon, and Rhode Island, 14 favoring Rockefeller.

New York GOP leaders are convinced Rockefeller is the stronger candidate. The governor has carried the state three times while Nixon lost in his one try.

U.S. 41 is killer
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House-Senate conference committee on public works Friday agreed to add 1,500 miles to the interstate highway system to eliminate "killer" highways such as U.S. 41 from Chicago to Evansville.

The highway in Indiana was not specifically included, but it was cited as an example in the committee report of the type of road which fits the description of a "killer."

The committee report was expected to be approved by both houses early next week.

Opening lead—king of hearts.

Many seemingly hopeless contracts can be saved by keeping a stiff upper lip. Your frame of mind in the face of apparent defeat has a great deal to do with salvaging a contract.

Examine this hand where South is in four spades doubled. He wins the heart lead and plays the ace of spades, only to discover that East has all the missing spades.

At this point the situation looks desperate. Not only is there a sure spade loser, but also a heart, perhaps two diamonds, and possibly a club or two.

But South must try to save what he can from the wreck. Among other things he knows that East has the ace of diamonds, since he could scarcely double without it. Declarer cannot pinpoint the location of the king of clubs, but he hopes West has it.

ABC-TV's two-hour adaptation of "A Case of Libel," with Van Heflin, Jose Ferrer and E. G. Marshall, has an encore Aug. 11.

Ayn Rand is scheduled to appear on NBC-TV's "Today" show Tuesday to discuss her ideas and writings on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the publication of her novel, "The Fountainhead" ... Wall Street writer-expert "Adam Smith" talks about the economy on "Today" Wednesday ... Fred Astaire, Bill Cosby and Alan King will have specials on NBC-TV again in the coming season, and so will the Supremes and The Monkees.

The programs: next year's Academy Awards show on ABC-TV will be switched from the Santa Monica, Calif., civic auditorium to the Los Angeles Music Center, and will be staged by Gower Champion ... The final broadcast of ABC-TV's "Time for Americans" series, which airs for an hour Monday, deals with the subject "Can White Suburbia Think Black?," and focuses on New Rochelle, N.Y. ... A rating firm erred in saying the first broadcast of CBS-TV's "Of Black America" series, narrated by Bill Cosby, got a 40 share of the audience; it was a 25 share.

Holden's Documentaries

William Holden's occasional series of documentaries, "Adventures in Unconquered Worlds," is scheduled to begin on CBS-TV in the new season ... NBC-TV, meanwhile, is developing a group of programs called "Encyclopedia Britannica Specials" ... same network's "Catholic Hour" starts a four-part series Aug. 4 exploring the church's role in relation to the world's basic social and economic problems ... four young adults representing a cross-section of opinion discuss reasons for current unrest in the nation on NBC-TV's hour broadcast, "What's Happening to America?," tonight.

In the mail: "In a major step to simplify the channels of communication between ghetto residents and the 'establishment,' station WSAZ-TV, Huntington-Charleston, W. Va. will present a 'Television Ombudsman' program weekly ... (the program) hopes to be able to cut a great deal of the red tape which is continually obstructing the complaints of minority groups and of providing swift and practical answers to their questions."

You have called a man to become your minister; you have chosen him with calm deliberation...with great care. That means that you desire a spiritual church in the service and worship of God.

THE minister is your prophet, even as he is also the prophet of the Most High. It follows that you have promised to harken to the message which that "preacher-prophet" is to bring. Else, why did you make him your minister? He expects, through prayer and meditation, to find the will of God for himself and for you and for our world. Listen then to what the divine purpose for you may be!

THE preacher is the leader of his people, under the Spirit of God. How necessary that there shall be women and men to follow where he marks out the path of Christian living! That likely means regular attendance at the services of prayer in your church. It means also an eager listening to the Scriptural exposition, in which men find what God has for them to be and to do, as well as the blessed aid of His Spirit in all one's efforts.

THE Church is a fellowship of women and men, inspired by the example and the teaching of the Master, united about the Spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ, and committed with Him to the coming of the Kingdom of God upon the earth. It takes us all together to create and to maintain such a healing and strengthening and comforting fellowship. You and I need the divine comradeship which the church affords. Let's do our part to make a good church in our community; God will do His part, we may be sure. As much so as does the Preacher, we have a ministry to carry out. "Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it..." Attend your church.

This message is dedicated to the building of a more spiritual and a greater church going community and is being sponsored by the following individuals and business firms who want, as their only return, to see more people attending church. The church needs your support. The community needs the church.
